FYI – looks like Rebecca will take the lead, but still good that ORC is aware of this.

Ah, sorry. I thought this was in regards to the Front Range Synergy Network – I didn't read past that sentence.

I'll take it back from here.

Thanks.

Hi Rebecca –

It appears that CH2M is offering their technical expertise to help with the gold king mine release – it seems like this would better be directed to someone involved in the clean-up/response.

What do you need from me? It seems like something ORC should review as not sure that we can accept their pro bono offer. I can forward the other 2 emails to Mike Gleason if you want his take on it.

Melanie

Is a call from this gentleman on Shaun's calendar? Thanks.

Hi, Rebecca. Great to see you at the Font Range Synergy Network meeting a couple weeks ago at our offices. Thanks for EPA's support.

I also wanted to highlight the attached letter from our Environmental Group president Chris Shae to Regional Administrator McGrath. Chris is scheduled to call Shaun Wednesday of this week. Sending to you in case you have a chance to brief him in advance of the call.

Let me know if there's anything we can do to support EPA on this issue.

Best,

Scott

Dear Administrator McGrath:

On behalf of all of my colleagues at CH2M, I want to let you know that we admire the leadership that you, Special Advisor Joan Card, and others are demonstrating in response to the Gold King Mine release. As described in the attached letter, CH2M is prepared to support EPA in its response, and we have a compelling community interest in doing so. We have been deeply engaged in the region through our participation in the Animas River Stakeholders Group, and combine that local knowledge with subject matter expertise and resources to support the emergency, interim, and long term efforts to respond to the release and to the downstream impacts.

CH2M's scientific and engineering subject matter experts are available to consult and participate with EPA on a pro-bono basis as EPA develops its response, recovery, and prevention strategies. I am confident we can make a meaningful contribution to these efforts.

On behalf of Jacqueline Hinman, our CEO, and all of my colleagues at CH2M, we are both concerned for and confident of the success of your response efforts, and we also hope for the safety of your staff and the affected communities. Understanding how consuming this effort is, I am hoping we can find time for a brief discussion on how CH2M can support EPA. I can be reached anytime on my mobile phone (720-822-6423).

Chris Shea
